

Religious Belief in the 21st Century

Professors David Gardiner (Colorado College) and Jeff Scholes (UCCS) will dialogue about the current state of religious belief. Relatively recent challenges to traditional religious belief that come in the form of the “New Atheism,” Secular Humanism, religious pluralism and technological innovations, to name a few, have problematized a straightforward belief in a transcendent realm. Gardiner and Scholes will converse about these problems and invite a lively discussion with audience members on the topic.

Place:

Slocum Commons, Colorado College
(In Slocum Hall, northwest corner of Nevada Ave. and Cache La Poudre)

When:

Thursday, May 5th, 2011

Time:

7:00 – 8:30 PM

Parking is free on and near the campus after 5:00 PM.

Sponsored by:

The Colorado College Religion Department

UCCS Center for Religious Diversity and Public Life | www.uccs.edu/rdpl

BodhiMind Center | www.bodhimindcenter.org